

ePortfolio Activity

(HTML/JavaScript)

Background:

Due to the declining quality of post-secondary applicants since the removal of Grade 13 (O.A.C.), Universities and Colleges are increasingly requesting evidence of experience and/or learning beyond what is provided in a secondary school transcript. It has become common that applicants are required to write an entry exam before they are accepted into a program.

What is also becoming common, is that Universities and Colleges request a collection of an applicant's work in order to demonstrate that they truly have the prerequisite skill for the program they have applied to. This activity is intended to help you prepare for the possibility that you will be asked for a portfolio of your work.

Instructions:

Create a website designed to showcase your Computer Science work. Be sure to design your site to impress prospective post secondary admissions agents and be easily navigated. The site should include a brief introduction of who you are and what you hope to do after high school. An up to date resume is also required as portfolios are also commonly requested as part of job applications.

You are encouraged to add work from other courses or personal endeavors as well. Each program or artifact you add to your site should include a brief reflection on what you learned from the creation or development of that item.

There are no rules regarding what development tools you may or may not use and you are not required to pay for hosting. You will continue to update this website as the semester progresses. The final evaluation will happen at the end of the semester but a mid-term evaluation will also be done.

Things to remember:

- Design your site to impress people!
- Make sure a newbie can find everything they need.
- Keep this site up to date as the semester progresses.
- This activity is worth ~20% of your course grade.

Submission:

Upload a sharable hyperlink in the assignments section on the HUB.

Grading:

This activity will be graded twice. Once for mid-term and again at the end of the semester. There are two rubrics on the following pages that outline how your websites will be evaluated. The evaluation criteria for the final submission is more demanding.

Please carefully review both rubrics before submitting.
